

Gregoria Fraser Goins: A Worthy Subject in Her Own Right

Wednesday, March 8th @ 6:30pm | F*

This public talk provides insight into the compelling life of Gregoria Fraser Goins, an Afro-Dominican woman on the margins of African-American history. Born to a West Indian apothecary and an African-American doctor in Puerto Plata, Dominican Republic in 1883, Goins and her mother relocated to the United States following her father's untimely death.

This event will be presented by Dr. Lauren Hammond Ford, Ph.D., Associate Professor of History at Augustana College

This program is intended for adults. Registration is encouraged, but not required.

1000 Books Before Kindergarten is a self-paced program that has no end date except your child beginning kindergarten. You decide how often and how long you read. The key is perseverance! Celebrate milestones with us at the library as you make progress, and above all, read and enjoy time with your child. Research shows that sharing books, conversations, and songs with young children builds language skills. This type of sharing contributes to children's healthy development, encourages parent and child bonding, provides skills children need to succeed in school, and helps assure they become strong readers and successful students.
